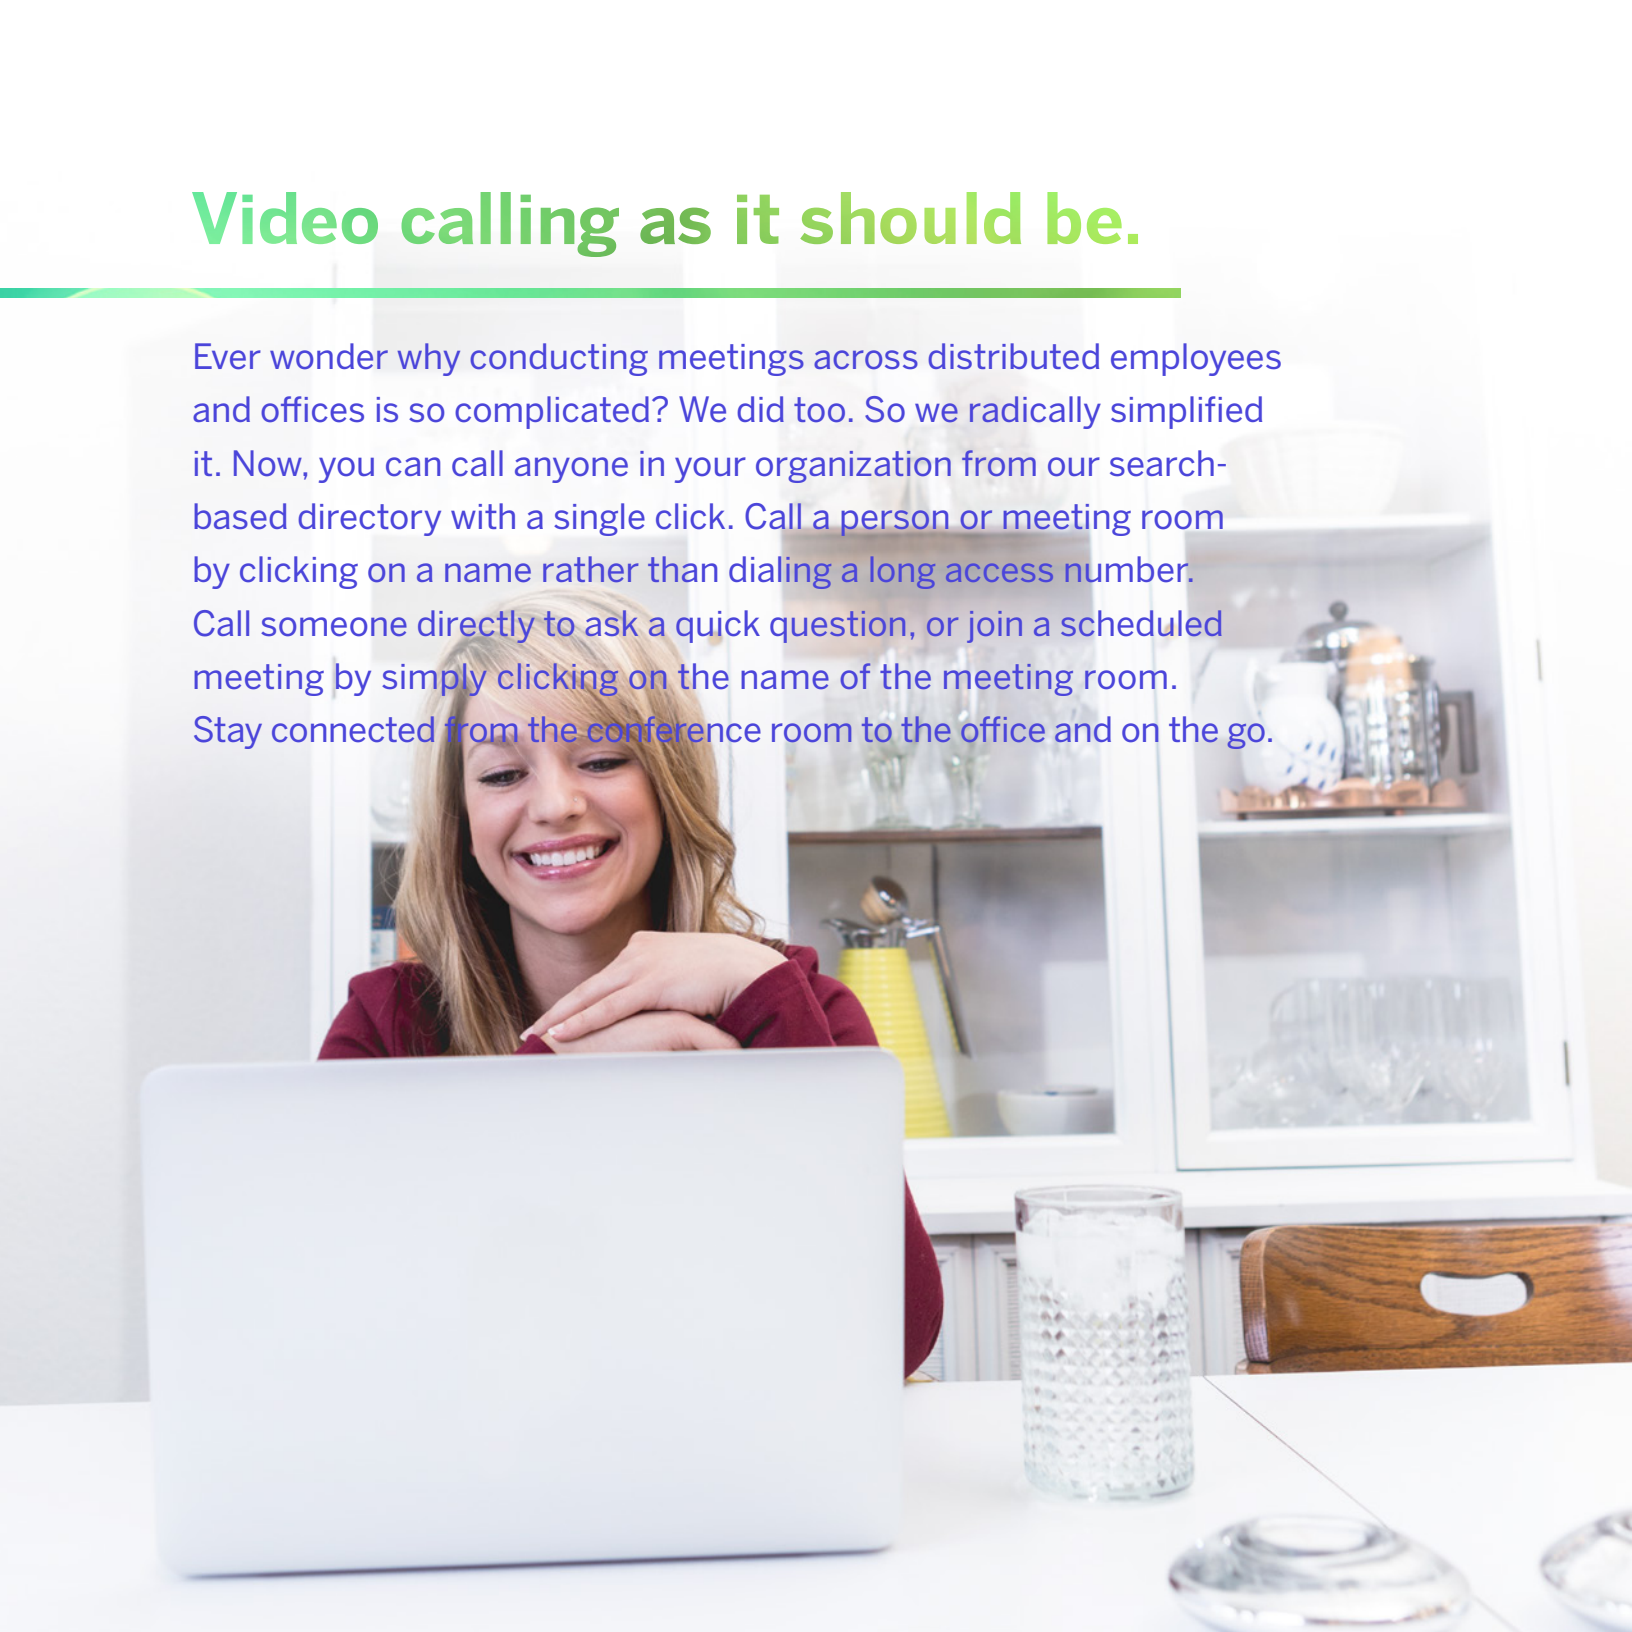
Ever wonder why conducting meetings across distributed employees and offices is so complicated? We did too. So we radically simplified it. Now, you can call anyone in your organization from our search-based directory with a single click. Call a person or meeting room by clicking on a name rather than dialing a long access number. Call someone directly to ask a quick question, or join a scheduled meeting by simply clicking on the name of the meeting room. Stay connected from the conference room to the office and on the go.



One solution. Unbelievable meetings.

It's time to work smarter. By delivering our radically simple cloud-based audio, web and video conferencing service connected to our incredible conference room systems, browser, desktop and mobile apps, Lifesize Cloud ensures that your best business decisions are made in person no matter where people happen to be.

Get the connection you're looking for, on any device.

Start connecting over the highest quality video on any conference room system, laptop, tablet, or smartphone—and meet instantly with individuals or teams, inside or outside your company.
